Tax Credit Update

Ms. Nicholson continued her presentation before the Board with a Tax Credit Update. In her report, Ms. Nicholson advised the Board that a public hearing was held at the Authority on October 19, 2017 to take comments on the proposed technical changes to the 2017-2018 QAP and Tax Credit Manual. She then outlined the proposed changes of the QAP and Tax Credit Manual. Ms. Nicholson reminded the Commissioners that Governor Haley signed and approved the current two year QAP in 2016 and that staff plans to provide Governor McMaster with copies of the final technical changes for informational purposes.

Chairman Tomlin then asked Ms. Nicholson to outline the proposed Small Rental Development Program. Ms. Nicholson outlined the program to include the minimum and maximum number of affordable housing units (8-24), the three proposed funding sources and an anticipated schedule that would be necessary to get the Program approved due to the federal funding sources. The Board accepted the report as information and asked for a copy of the draft Program Manual before giving additional comments. The Chairman asked for a Telephonic Board meeting in December to discuss the program further and to allow for appropriate time to meet the projected deadlines.

Homeownership Report

Mr. Clements presented the mortgage production update highlighting loan volume, mortgage rates, origination fees, and down payment assistance data. He then provided updated loan reservation figures for the SC Mortgage Tax Credit, Palmetto Heroes, and the conventional loan program.

SC HELP Update

The Chairman asked Kim Wilbourne to provide the SC HELP update. Ms. Wilbourne reported that the program continues to be in its final stages of wind down and issuance of commitments. According to Ms. Wilbourne, the program's application portal will be closed at the end of November and staff will continue to review applications through March of 2018. She then provided program figures including the total number of applicants, funds committed, and funds expended to date.

Reports

Executive Director

The Chairman asked Mr. Wilson to provide the Executive Director's report. Mr. Wilson began by informing the Board that he would be joining other HFA Executive Directors at an upcoming NCSHA meeting in Washington, D.C. on December 3 – 5, 2017. He also mentioned that he would be attending the HOME Workshop the following day so that he could meet more of our Development partners. Mr. Wilson then announced that Phase 1 of the agency's website redesign was launched that week and encouraged commissioners to visit the website and provide feedback.

Commissioner Gardner asked for a status of the requested agency survey. Mr. Wilson deferred to Bonita Shropshire for response. Ms. Shropshire reported that the survey questions had all been entered into a survey template and would be forthcoming to the Commissioners for review once she confirmed some very detailed information included within some of the questions. Chairman Tomlin encouraged staff to put forth a scope of questions that would allow for relevant responses and that would be reviewed by the Commissioners prior to release.

Director of Internal Audit

The Chairman asked Anastasia Rodriguez for the Internal Audit report. Ms. Rodriguez reported that Internal Audit was continuing to monitor communications and responses with the Office of Special Inspection General for the Troubled Asset Relief Program (SIGTARP). Ms. Rodriguez also reported that Internal Audit staff had just completed a review to ensure that the agency was in compliance with the Fair Labor Standards Act and that an official report would be provided to the Executive Director by the following week.

Other Business

The Chairman asked if there was any other business that needed to come before the Board.

Executive Session

The Chairman called for a motion to enter executive session for purposes of receiving legal advice pursuant to SC Code Section 30-4-70(2) and to discuss a personnel matter pursuant to SC Code Section 30-4-70(1).

MOTION Commissioner Mickle moved to enter executive session for the stated purposes. The motion received a second from Commissioner Shannon. There being no discussion, all Commissioners voted in the affirmative and the motion carried.

[EXECUTIVE SESSION]

Any Actions, Votes Necessitated After Executive Session

Upon exiting the Chairman confirmed that no votes or actions had been taken during executive session. Chairman Tomlin then asked for any motions that were needed as a result of discussions during executive session.

MOTION Commissioner Shannon made a motion to create a qualified non-profit organization established for the purpose of furthering construction lending capacity and engaging in other eligible activities in support of advancing affordable housing. The motion received a second from Commissioner Mickle. There was no additional discussion, all Commissioners voted in the affirmative and the motion carried.

Respectfully submitted,

Subject: Housing Trust Fund Award Change
MIRCI- HTF #16118

At the November 15, 2017 Board Meeting, staff recommend and the Board approved a $100,000 State Housing Trust Fund award for MIRCI. The award was for the construction of a multifamily proposal of a ten bedroom dwelling that would provide housing for unaccompanied young men between the ages of 17-24 to be located in Columbia, Richland County. The State Housing Trust Fund award was being combined with a $500,000 National Housing Trust Fund award. Unfortunately, during conversations with HUD it was determined the proposed development would not be eligible for National Housing Trust Funds and the Authority had to rescind its commitment of National Housing Trust Funds.

After reviewing the proposal as presented, it was determined that the project would fit in the State Housing Trust Fund's Supportive Housing activity. This activity can provide up to $300,000 in funding. Based on the fact the Authority had already committed $100,000 in funding and in order for MIRCI to be able to continue to move forward in meeting their construction timelines with their lending partners as well as the City of Columbia, staff has brought this proposed funding increase to you outside of the normal quarterly funding cycle.

MIRCI's Board and the SC Department of Mental Health have both provided additional funding to make the project financial feasible if the Authority's Board will increase the State Housing Trust Fund award. Therefore, staff would appreciate the Board's consideration and approval to increase the $100,000 State Housing Trust Fund award to $300,000.

Subject: Development Programs Update

Tax Credit Program:

Final technical changes to the 2107-2018 Qualified Allocation Plan and Tax Credit Manual were provided at the November 2017 Board meeting. Since Governor Haley signed and approved a two year Qualified Allocation Plan in 2017, Authority staff provided Governor McMaster, for informational purposes, a copy of the final technical changes to the Qualified Allocation Plan. These technical changes will govern the 2018 tax credit program.

The tax credit application workshop is scheduled for January 24, 2018 at the Embassy Suites on Greystone Blvd in Columbia. Staff will review changes specific to the 2018 program as well as the application process, forms and exhibits. Applications for funding are due March 5-9, 2018.

National Council of State Housing Authority's Recommended Practices for Tax Credits:

The National Council of State Housing Agencies (NCSHA) recently published an updated recommended practice guide for state Housing Finance Agencies in the administration of the Low Income Housing Tax Credit Program. A task force appointed by the NCSHA Board of Directors worked on this project over 18 months, collaborating with Housing Finance Agency executive directors and their staff. NCSHA also sought comments from numerous organizations and businesses involved in the Housing Credit industry, including national advocacy associations and developer, syndicator, consultant, investor, and other stakeholder groups.

The new guidelines respond to current program challenges and opportunities by updating and expanding both NCSHA's existing Recommended Practices in Housing Credit Allocation and Underwriting and Recommended Practices in Housing Credit Compliance Monitoring. The recently published final report is a consolidation of these two sets of practices, covering the state's program administration responsibilities. The report significantly strengthens existing recommended practices and includes 13 new practices. A copy of the Recommended Practices is included with your Board book.

The Authority will look to include the new practices into the 2019-2020 Qualified Allocation Plan and Tax Credit Manual.

National Housing Trust Fund Program:

The Authority initially awarded two (2) developments under this program- (1) The Preserve at Logan Park, an existing 113 unit elderly development in Greenville and (2) MIRCI- Transitional Housing for Youth and Young Adults, a 10 unit new construction development in Columbia. However, due to guidance received from HUD based on project specifics, HUD determined that MIRCI's project was not an eligible activity under the National Housing Trust Fund program and the Authority had to rescind the award. Therefore, for the 2016 National Housing Trust Fund funding cycle the Authority made one award totaling $700,000.

Division: Mortgage Production

Mortgage Production Update

Mr. Wilson and Ms. Easton,

This is the final report related to the Internal Audit Department's work regarding the agency's compliance with the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 and its subsequent revisions. Please review and respond to this report within 90 days of receipt. Thank you for your staffs' assistance and cooperation with our review.

Executive Summary:

Based on a review of agency risk, the Internal Audit Department (IA) conducted an audit of the Human Resources policy on employee exemption status as defined by the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (FLSA). The scope of the audit included a review of current FLSA rules, inspection of current Employee Performance Management System (EPMS) documents, reconciling job duties from the EPMS with FLSA exemption options, and discussing recommendations with HR staff.

In conclusion, IA found that approximately 55% of SC Housing (Agency) employees who currently have exempt status should have non-exempt status as defined by FLSA. IA recommends that HR change the exemption status for employees who do not meet the executive, administrative, professional employee, or computer related occupation tests. IA also recommends consistency among employees within the same class title. Further, IA identified personnel, Human Resources in consultation with Legal, should review to ensure that they have the correct classification and FLSA exemption status.

Background:

The Fair Labor Standards Act \(FLSA\) guarantees a minimum wage for all hours worked and limits to 40 hours per week the number of hours an employee can work without additional compensation. There are 3 tests that must be passed in order to exempt an employee from overtime eligibility. The tests are as follows: (1) the employee must be paid a predetermined and fixed salary that is not subject to reduction because of variations in the quality or quantity of work performed (the "salary basis test"); (2) the amount of salary paid must meet a minimum specified amount (the "salary level test”); and (3) the employee’s job duties must primarily involve executive, administrative, or professional duties as defined by the regulations (the “duties test”).

In the 2004 Final Rule, the salary level necessary to meet the “salary level test” was increased from $155 per week to $455 per week. The 2004 rule also created an exemption for Highly Compensated Employees earning at least $100,000 for which a minimal “duties test” is required as well as regulatory carve outs for specific occupations including computer based employees.

In July of 2015, the Department of Labor published a proposal to update the FLSA salary level requirements to $913 per week for a full-year worker and $134,004 for Highly Compensated Employees. This rule was set to go into effect on December 1, 2016. However, a temporary injunction was issued in November of 2016 and the rule was officially struck down on August 31, 2017. During this time, there was much confusion over the appropriate interpretation of FLSA rules. SC Housing updated employee exemption status once on November 2, 2016 and again on June 17, 2017. Because of concerns related to the change made on June 17, 2017, IA planned and performed an audit of the Human Resources policy on employee exemption status as defined by the current FLSA rules.

Scope and Procedures:

IA determined the scope of the audit to include reviewing current FLSA rules, inspection of current employee EPMS documents, and testing of the FLSA exemption status of each employee. Testing was followed by discussions with the Human Resources and Legal departments to discuss the more subjective aspects of determining the correct exemption status. The most objective determinant of FLSA exemption status is compensation; however in the current environment, the more subjective duties tests including the executive, administrative, professional, and computer based exemptions are important considerations for determining exemption status. As such, it is important to ensure that job descriptions in the EPMS are correct and applied uniformly to the FLSA exemption tests. Organizational chart considerations are also important as the consistent application of exemption status to employees with similar job class titles and place within the organizational hierarchy are important to reduce HR compression issues related to FLSA exemption status.

The review of current FLSA rules included gathering documentation such as the Fair Labor Standards Act \(FLSA\) Fact Sheets provided by the Department of Labor (DOL), and DOL Wage and Hour Division Field Operations Handbook.

IA held meetings with HR staff to walk through current HR FLSA policy. Understandably, due to the federal policy changes and reversals, the Agency has been through several iterations of FLSA policy and exemptions status. Most recently, in June of 2017, the Agency made the determination that all employees were exempt from the minimum wage and maximum hour requirement of the FLSA. Based on the current exemption status of all employees and our knowledge of the FLSA rules, IA performed a review of all employee job descriptions and documented the recommended exemption status as well as the support for the conclusion.

Findings:

1. After reviewing FLSA documentation and employee job descriptions, IA found that approximately 55% of Agency staff should have non-exempt status. While all employees met the salary base test and the salary level test, many did not meet the duties test. For example, Program Coordinator I employees do not perform administrative or executive duties to the extent that would allow FLSA exemption.
2. IA identified employees who have duties which allow for FLSA exemption. However, the employee class title is inconsistent with that recommendation. IA believes that consistency among class title is a best practice and should be adhered to whenever possible. For example, there are Program Coordinator I employees who have management duties and are therefore inconsistent with other employees with the same class title.

3. Currently Agency construction inspectors have the class title of Program Coordinator I. IA believes that these employees exercise the discretion and independent judgement required to meet the administrative exemption threshold.
4. The Computer Employee Exemption is difficult to determine given what we know about the FLSA rules and the job duties of computer based employees. It is difficult to determine the exemption status of a computer based employee using EPMS documents.

Recommendations:

1. IA recommends that HR change the exemption status from exempt to non-exempt for employees who do not meet the executive test, administrative test, professional employee test, or computer related occupation test. This is necessary to be in compliance with current FLSA rules.
2. IA recommends being consistent with exemption status as it relates to class title. For example, all Program Coordinator I and Accountant/Fiscal Analyst II employees should have non-exempt status. All employees with class titles that have been determined to be non-exempt who meet exemption testing should be reclassified to a higher class title.
3. IA recommends that HR and Legal review job duties related to construction inspectors and consider reclassifying these employees to a title class that allows for exempt status.
4. IA recommends the HR and Legal review the Computer Employee Exemption requirements of IT staff to ensure that IT staff have the appropriate FLSA exemption status. IA recommends working with IT management in their efforts to reorganize the department to ensure that any exempt staff are correctly classified.
5. IA recommends that HR review all policies and procedures related to exempt and non-exempt status to ensure that the handling of issues related to these statuses are in compliance with FLSA rules. These issues include timekeeping, paid time off, and overtime/comp time.
6. IA realizes that adding non-exempt employees to the workforce adds a level of risk related to time and attendance tracking. IA has agreed to assist HR in the development of new policies and procedures related to FLSA exemption status as well as time and attendance tracking.

Conclusion:

Based on the audit work performed, IA concludes that with the implementation of the recommendations, the controls and processes necessary for the agency to be in compliance with FLSA will be in place. IA has recommended that personnel needing to be converted to non-exempt status have that conversion completed as soon as possible. At this time Human Resources has a plan in place to have this conversion completed by the end of the first quarter of 2018. IA has requested that management respond to the audit report in writing within 90 days.

Management and IA will work together to monitor implementation of the measures that discussed in this report.

Subject: Penetration Test Results and Information Technology Update

As a members of the Information Technology Governance Committee, the Directors of Internal Audit and Information Technology meet informally on a weekly basis to discuss the ongoing risks and challenges regarding information technology in the agency and the IT department's response to those challenges. This memo serves as an update on these issues.

In early November, SeNet conducted the second annual Security Assessment and Adversarial Simulation engagement for SC Housing. This included a three level penetration test and security assessment of the agency's IT infrastructure and resources. In 2016 when this engagement was last conducted, SeNet found 6000 external findings (a finding is an exploitable vulnerability or hole in the network) and 500 internal findings. This year's engagement only identified 6 external findings and 64 internal findings, which is a significant improvement. Because of the extremely technical nature of some of the items identified, we have summarized the high priority issues below.

Level one penetration testing: attempting to gain access from outside the agency was unsuccessful. The agency was able to detect the attempts and prevent penetration. In addition, the state technology office was able to detect the penetration attempt after four days which is an improvement over last year, when it was not detected.

Level two penetration testing: attempting to elevate credentials from a regular user to an administrator and gain access to the network (to simulate a potential phishing attack) was unsuccessful. This shows that the IT staff's hard work maintaining and patching network resources has been successful at significantly reducing this risk.

Level three penetration testing: attempting to gain access to the complete network with basic administrator access inside the network was successful. While not a positive result, this vulnerability is a significant improvement from the last test and exists because of access to the network that currently exists to test software upgrades before they are pushed into production. This occurred because the agency does not have an appropriate test environment due to a previous lack of resources to make this happen. This has been moved up in priority and will be resolved prior to the end of 2018.

During SeNet's access to the network, they identified potential issues with the security of the old website, the current shared network drive setup within the agency and with the security of software that pushes the patches out to the desktops on the network that prevented the level two penetration from being successful.

IT is working to close these vulnerabilities through the following:

- Replacement of the website, phase one of which has been completed;
- Monitoring of outside service providers who access the agency's network;
- Eliminating the current shared network drive setup with a more secure option later this year after the data classification project completes the next phase and the new backup system needed to support this more secure option is implemented in January/February of 2018; and,
- By separating out the desktop maintenance program to an area on the network where communication is outgoing only, and incoming access cannot be achieved from anywhere else on the network.

Overall, the Information Technology group has made significant strides to improve the overall security of the agency's resources while working with an outdated infrastructure. 2018 will bring a significant upgrade to the infrastructure with replacement of the network switch, backup systems, disaster recovery system, and upgrades to the firewall system. These investments should further secure and reduce the risk to the agency's IT resources. We appreciate everyone's cooperation and patience through the growing pains of these upgrades.
